

Signs of Spring

Last Friday me and 'my' class went out into the school grounds to search for signs of Spring. First we saw a DANGER of DEATH sign. I was in Ms Carson's group.

When we went into the garden I saw tiny shooting bulbs. I also saw a big yellow frog and seventeen tiny tadpoles. There were also four birds all communicating to each other. The frog I found was camouflaged into the muddy grass. Ms Carson thought there were mice under the bird house. I rubbed my hand against a curry plant and it smelt like real curry from the Lucky House. There were yogurt pots on the trees and I could smell the fresh air. It was so fresh.

When we got back in we took notes and facts for storywriting. Jay came up with a brilliant phrase
